

The Creators of CollegeSide

Welcome to CollegeSide, the website built by college students to meet the needs of students from Nebraska. We work with college faculties and local businesses to bring college students the most out of the web. But CollegeSide is not just about providing services, it also about building a community. We want to make CollegeSide one of the largest online college communities in the Midwest region. We are based in Omaha, Nebraska.

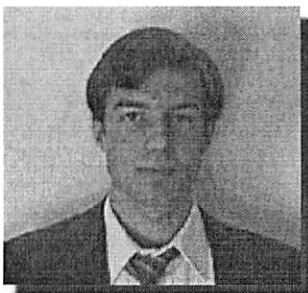

YuChing Chiang

ching@collegeside.com

Sophomore, Creighton University
Programming and Design

YuChing currently is a sophomore at Creighton University who began as a pre-med student, then changed his major to computer science after becoming interested in building web pages. He laid the initial ground work for CollegeSide during his freshman year when he built a website for his dorm floor. YuChing currently is the technical guy behind CollegeSide whose responsibilities include programming, publishing the content, and graphics design.

Frank Mitchell

frank@collegeside.com

Sophomore, UN at Omaha
Marketing and Sales

Frank currently is a sophomore at University of Nebraska at Omaha majoring in economics and finance. He joined YuChing at the beginning of the 1998 fall semester to help turn CollegeSide into a business. Frank currently is in charge of marketing and sales, responsible for marketing CollegeSide to college students, faculty, and businesses. He is also in charge of CollegeSide's finances.